INSPIRING AUTOMATION

Kloof Country Club | 10 May 2024

May is a beautiful time of the year in Durban, but 10 May on which the Durban golf day was held at the Kloof Country Club, surpassed even the most beautiful of the past, with hot and sunny conditions. With temperatures close to 30°C, some may argue that the day was too hot, but nobody could argue that it wasn't another fun and successful day, with enthusiasm levels reaching the same highs as the temperatures.

The Durban branch would like to thank Steve Sanders for his tireless and enthusiastic commitment to making this day the success it always is. A vote of thanks also goes to Howard Lister for organising the logistics with the venue, the catering, and the prizes, where his imagination knows no bounds, and nobody goes home disappointed. Thank you to everybody who organised and sponsored four balls, and another special thank you goes to the hole sponsors of the day, without whom this event would be very dry and a lot more subdued: Elonics, UIC, Voltex, IFM, Loadtech, Bidvest Renewable Solutions, and Cabstrut. ICA was, as always, a familiar and welcoming presence at the registration table, and Cabstrut and Alpine Instruments donated some wonderful prizes, with Voltex handing out goody bags to everybody at registration.

Another vote of thanks goes to Mark Calvert and ICA for their fabulous hamper baskets which were raffled, and which raised R1420. The SAiMC raffled an 8-in-1 Bennett Read Gourmet Chef Cooking solution, which raised R2050 and was won by a very chuffed Anton Schilz from Loadtech Load Cells. (We're not sure if Melanie will be using it or if Anton will be honing his cooking skills.)

Thank you to everybody who supported this fund-raising initiative (and thanks to the beers which helped the process during prize giving!).

Everybody knows the drill by now: stomach in, chest out and SMILE. It seemed an obvious choice to do the photos before tee-ing off in case it was a bad shot and nobody felt like smiling afterwards. And a special welcome to our ever-loyal team from Richards Bay (middle photo).

Rob Moxam's annual yoga stretches are legendary (and catching on fast), and we wonder if we shouldn't add a yoga day to the calendar as well as a golf day....
